THE BROOM

"Isn't it queer . . . . that God still rules supreme ? !"

* * * *

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States".

VOLUME XIV. No. 14. SAN DIEGO, CALIFORNIA, MONDAY, DECEMBER 27, 1943 $2.50 PER YEAR—SINGLE COPY 5 CENTS

Intimidating Municipal Judges

San Diego is a city where prostitution abounds because of the presence of unattached men of the armed forces and the war industries. The concern of the authorities is not to suppress prostitution but to eliminate the diseased females from the trade before they contaminate the men. It is supposed that the men are being inspected by their respective medical departments, something which theoretically looks good but in practice does not always work out that way, especially not in cases of civilians.

As soon as the percentage of infected U. S. personnel became alarming Federal Agent Cooley, contacted the city authorities with a request for a stringent enforcement of the vagrancy ordinance and a high bail of $1000 upon arrest, to hold the prisoner long enough to give the authorities a chance for a compulsory blood test to eliminate the dieseased ones. Theoretically it sounds good, in practice it works differently, at times, and too often.

I wish to preface my further comment with this statement. I am a very conscientious person and will stick my neck out to protect the innocent when it enters within my sphere of life to do so. But in private life, and as a reporter for the BROOM, I have made the darndest mistakes imaginable, all in good faith. I was certain I had the goods on somebody only to find to my shame that I had misunderstood the signs of "evidence". It has taught me a lesson that I must not even trust my own eyes because at times a thing seems to be something else than what it really is. And mind you, I am intellectually honest and scrupulous, but human intelligence, evidently, has its limits and my judgment at times was completely haywire. Take now men with less training and intelligence and entrust to them the power of arrest.

When the federal departments put the screws on the local officials and on the courts to hold down venereal disease, the police was instructed to make arrests, and no nonsense. As a result, women who were quite innocent but conducted themselves in what the arresting officers considered a suspicious manner, were hauled in and treated like vags. When these girls appeared the next day in court, or later for final disposition of their cases, the judge discovered that the police had been mistaken. Naturally, they dismissed the charge.

Dismissal of charges reflects on the police. They become more cautious before acting and at times a real vag slips through their fingers because of the added caution. Result, the federal authorities are hell bent to reduce the percentage of dismissals. Now the judges find themselves between two fires. On one hand they must protect the innocent, on the other hand they must face the wrath of an unthinking public, especially in a city like San Diego that has a monopoly in the field of the daily press where the news are given out as a set of individuals desire to have it be known and no competition exists to bring the truth to public notice. A biased press creates hysteria against the courts when the public should praise the courts for upholding the innocent in a high pressure campaign.

This hysteria is reflected in the request by the county grand jury to the courts that municipal judges be rotated so that John Brennan be not the permanent police judge before whom most of the vag cases are tried.

John Brennan is a Democrat, was appointed by Olson, when governor, and this paper has very little use for Olson Democrats, but Brennan proved to have more integrity and good sense than his accusers. He knows the fallibility of even the best policeman and refuses to be high pressured into a miscarriage of justice. Therefor the grand jurors, some of them, who have all sorts of theoretical notions but no experience in practical police and court work, imagine that Brennan is to blame. I interviewed other judges and discovered them to be of one mind, namely that none of them will sentence an innocent person on spurious evidence.

Instead of high pressuring the courts to ruin the lives of innocent women who made fools of themselves by frequenting bars and becoming too familiar with men, without doing anything worse, we should thank our judges that they still have a sense of integrity and respect for individual rights, when they release these women as Jesus released Magdalene, for lack of evidence.

How Witch Hunters Circumvent the Constitution

If you will look to this week's installment of "My Adventures in America", on page four, you will find the complete text of the points and authorities cited by the Attorney General's office against my petition for a writ of habeas corpus in favor of Franz K. Ferenz, doing time in St. Quentin prison for having failed to indict himself of felonies, punishable under one California and two federal statutes. Now Ferenz disclaims having intended to overthrow the government by force and violence, but had he registered such an intention with the Secretary of State at Sacramento he would have been indicting himself under 3 statutes and become liable to prison sentences of 18 years in state and federal penitentiaries.

In my petition to the California Supreme Court I cited the 5th Amendment to the Constitution which forbids compulsory incriminatory testimony of Ferenz, but you can read now that the Attorney General quoted authorities to the effect that the Constitution protects the rights of individuals only and not of corporations, organizations, or groups. This is very devious.

Under this ruling, if I don't like the looks of you, or have it in for you, I simply swear that you have met John Q. more than once in a certain place. Now you and John Q. are no longer protected by the 5th Amendment because you are now a "group". Now both you and John Q. must go to Sacramento and tell the Secretary of State that you intend something or other, even if you never do. If you fail to say that you INTEND, even if you did not know it yourself that you intended to overthrow the government by force and violence, then I simply twist anything you say in criticism of the present administration into an INTENTION, and jack out of the box, you are convicted for not having registered an intention you never had and the 5th Amendment does not protect you, because you are not you anymore, you are a "group" whom I can hound and persecute to my heart's content.

It cost me over $300 to find that out. It's worth it.

"A Burnt Child . . . ."

Mr. John Q. Cannon
Administrative Assistant to the Attorney General
Department of Justice
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

In reply to your application for a subscription to the BROOM, dated Dec. 4. 1943.

I wish to inform you that the BROOM goes only to subscribers who pay in advance, by cash or check, immediately negotiable. From your application for a subscription it appears that I am supposed to send you the paper previous to the settlement of the vouchers in triplicate, which you enclosed with your application. Such procedure is contrary to the policy of this office and unless you are able to pay on the line, I am sorry to inform you that the Department of Justice cannot expect special privileges not extended to sovereign citizens whose servant the department is.

There is also another item which has to be considered before your application for a subscription is granted by our office.

You asked me to mail the BROOM to the War Division, Room 501. Hutchins Building, Washington 25, D. C., beginning with Nov. 1, 1943.

Two years ago a stooge of your department, Dillard Stokes, writing under various aliases made a similar request for two individual copies of the BROOM. We responded to it as a matter of routine only to discover that said stooge asked for the paper in furtherance of a conspiracy with the Nazis to demoralize the armed forces in the city of Washington, D. C., and the federal Grand Juries, so stated that the paper was mailed to him in furtherance of such conspiracy.

I did not know at the time that Mr. Stokes had conspired with the Nazis to demoralize the armed forces in the city of Washington, D. C., and had mailed in the price for two copies of our paper to that end. The funny part of it was that the Grand Jury made a mistake in identity and indicted me in place of Stokes for having used the BROOM to such a dastardly effect, when the contents of those two copies contained nothing demoralizing.

You will understand that as a result of such abuse of the mailing privilege this office now must reecive full legally valid assurance that persons not known to us will not again commit such an offense to undermine the war effort in the city of Washington, D. C.

For this reason, will you kindly fill out the enclosed application and questionaire, fully, and after you have it duly sworn to and notarized we shall decide whether to grant your appliation for a subscription to be delivered in the city of Washintgon, D. C. in these dangerous war times. Of course, provided that you accompany your application with cash or its equivalent.

Sincerely yours,
C. LEON de ARYAN.

Universities and Libraries

Those of our subscribing librarians who have been receiving more than one copy of THE BROOM during 1941, should appreciate the fix I find myself in. When you have to bind your files and find that issues are missing I have always done everything possible to help you get the missing copies. Now you ought to realize that you must help me complete my file for the XII Vol. I need No. 3, of October 13, 1941, before I can bind Vol. XII. Please go to the trouble of digging up your loose copies for that year. You are bound to find my missing one, and send it to me. Aside from the usual need for keeping complete files, I have to have files with me in Washington, D. C., at the forthcoming inquisition by the Reds. You girls, go ahead and help me.

The Buy Bonds Campaign

Last Thursday I went down town and collected subscription renewals from people who had failed to mail them in. A prominent businessman, after telling his stenographer to attend to it, asked me:

"Mr. de Aryan, I never noticed any encouragement or urging in your paper, asking people to buy bonds."

"No you didn't. You see, I won't encourage waste of taxpapyers money."

"But if people don't buy bonds how will the government have money to conduct the war? Are you not patriotic enough to help the government?"

"I am patriotic enough to know that Abraham Lincoln did not need to pay interest on war bonds and I know that the U. S. treasury can print and does print the bonds it needs. Only under Lincoln the bonds were not sold to the usurers to give them interest for nothing."

"I don't understand. If nobody buys bonds how will the government get money?"

"By printing both bonds and money, or using bonds as money."

"That's what they did in Germany in the previous war and got inflation, Mr. de Aryan."

"You don't mean to say that we have no inflation today?"

"The government is holding down inflation by rationing and ceilings."

"Now you said it. And not by selling bonds to pay interest to usurers for nothing when the government prints all the money in the first place and needs never borrow any."

"That's too deep for me, Mr. de Aryan."

"That's too simple, rather, I am afraid. Money is printed when a U. S. bond is presented as collateral by the bankers. The government prints that money, but gives it to the banker to buy more bonds to get more money, when the government could buy its own bonds with printed money and save us those 2 or 3 billions dollars a year interest. Lincoln did it. The Constitution says Congress should issue its own money and not buy it at usury rates from the bankers."

"But the common people pay real money for bonds."

"The common people are the camouflaged 'widows and orphans' of stock issue days, when corporations issued or sold a few shares of stocks to widows and orphans to arouse public sympathy for the millions held by bankers and tycoons. To make sure that Congress won't repudiate after the war the hundreds of billions of war bonds held by the International Bankers, a very small proportion is sold to 'widows and orphans' over the counter so they'll highpressure Congress to pay taxpayer's money, in violation of the Constitution, to International Bankers as interest for absolutely nothing."

"Too deep for me, Mr. de Aryan; too deep for me."

"I am sorry, but I told you the truth, which is plain and simple. Our whole government is conducted by the International Bankers for the interest of the Bankers and not for the benefit of the common people who foot the bill in labor, lives and money."

FRED de ARYAN, Owner

C. LEON de ARYAN, Editor

Declared a legal newspaper of general circulation for the County and City of San Diego, in California, by Superior Court order, January 15, 1932.

Entered as second class matter March 27, 1931, at the postoffice of San Diego, California, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

A Republican newspaper, standing for a clean sweep of the Augean stables. Fearless fighter for a truthful, just, vigilant and tolerant nationalism. Lover of the Constitution and the Founding Fathers. Defender of free speech and free press, as the foundation stones of the republican form of government. Opponent of injustice, tyranny and oppression, and of all "isms" except Americanism.

Nothing New Under the Sun

How food subsidies helped to destroy the Roman Republic is described in a book written in 1881 by James Anthony Freude. Its title is Caesar, a Sketch. I quote: "Gracchus brought forward and carried through * * * a proposal that there should be public granaries maintained and filled at the cost of the state and that corn should be sold at a rate artificially cheap. * * * The effect was to gather into the city a mob of needy, unemployed voters, living on the charity of the state, to crowd the circus, and to clamor at the elections * * * certain in the long run to sell themselves to those who could bid the highest for their votes. * * * It was the deadliest blow which had yet been dealt to the constitution. Party government turns on the majorities at the polling places and it was difficult afterward to recall a privilege which once conceded appeared to be a right. * * * If one side was ever strong enough to make the attempt, their rivals had a bribe to buy back the popular support."

It might be said of Gracchus that he fed the "needy unemployed". This administration proposes to feed the employed out of the coffers of the state. It proposes to pay part of the grocery bill of men making the highest wages in the history of the world. —Samuel Pettengill, former Representative in Congress.

MOVING DAY AT WHITE HOUSE

It was moving day at the White House, last week.

The Hopkins menage . . . or should we say menagerie . . . left the nation's bed and board for a home of its own.

It made a very brave show as Harry, in his role of master of the hounds . . . specifically poodles . . . headed this modern exodus which will go down in history as only second in importance to one other.

Whether Eleanor peeked from behind her curtains we cannot say. However, all is sweetness and light, the First Lady informed her press conference— "The President will always see Mr. Hopkins for the work required", she stated, somewhat ambiguously.

Mrs. Roosevelt can be quite specific when she likes. Her assertion that her liege and lord "trusts Harry and wants him around at all times" might have been uttered with just a suggestion of tongue in cheek.

Anyway, the price of dogmeat being what it is, the nation has cause to be thankful that Harry from now on, presumably, will supply his own dog-house. Whether maid service for the poodles is to be included in the new Hopkins manse was not made clear by Eleanor.—L. A. Examiner.

WILLKIE, STALIN'S CHAMPION

What's the answer Mr. Willkie? Three different authorities, (You will find them on page 8. of the July Readers Digest) estimate the number of Russians in slave labor camps at from 10 to 15 million. There are millions ill fed, ill housed, ill clothed, despised and suffering.

Joe Stalin has put them there because of brutal reasons that seem sufficient to him.

On his visit to Russia, Wendell Willkie saw some of these barbed wire concentration camps. In his article in the Reader's Digest he mentioned them, but there is no mention of them in his famous book.

Who persuaded him to delete this vital information? We don't know, but the fact that he was persuaded drops Mr. Willkie to the stature of a person with very ordinary moral courage.

If that's the best he can do with keeping faith with the American people, then the sooner he withdraws from the political scene the better.

Husbands Score Again in Britain

LONDON—British courts, which recently ruled that money saved by a wife in her housekeeping accounts belongs not to her but to her husband, dealt wives another jolt.

A magistrate in Tonbridge, market town southeast of London, ruled that a husband has the right to decide who is to enter his home, including inlaws. The case before the bench involved a wife seeking a separation from her husband, who was employed out of town. Coming home for occasional weekends, she charged, he objected to finding her sister there as an overnight guest.

The chairman of the bench dismissed her application, ruling that a "wife must realize that a husband is the master in his own house", and is entitled to rule on those who cross his threshold.

Paper Scarce !

Who is the nation's "No. 1 publisher" these days of paper shortage?

According to survey announced by Rep. Bennett (Rep., Mo.) it's the goverment—turning out some 441 publications !

Washington, says the Missouri Congressman, is producing nine daily papers, 48 weeklies, 12 semi-monthlies and 241 monthly magazines or papers.

This was only "a partial list", he added, covering a variety of subjects from shingles to honey. The Missourian asserted that the only purpose of many of the publications is to "advertise the agency which puts them out and drum up public and Congressional support for a continuation of the respective agency's particular brand of alphabetical bureaucracy."

Suggestion

Suggested Mr. Businessman read St. John chapter 8 on; also St. Matthew chapter 15 on; also The Acts 15 on; also Galatians 2nd chapter. See II Corinthians — 6:14-18 for the Law about the believer and the un-believer, etc. Note therein that "many" (Gentiles) heard Christ gladly, but the "Jews" constantly sought to trap Him, finally to kill Him. (of interest, the 1936 WORLD ALMANAC, p. 746, says that another great religious leader, Mohammed was "poisoned to death by Jesus, it is said, in 632").

VITAL FACTS

Dear Mr. de Aryan—

The December 6 issue of The Broom is unusually full of vital facts & I want to take time out in my daily rush to thank you for ferreting out this material—and publishing it—so those who will may know — — SANTA BARBARA.

The clearest case of action for non-support in domestic relations court is that of the Illinois woman who charged that her husband removed her garters at a birthday celebration.

Something else that emphasizes the horrors of war is the announcement that the silk in one parachute might have made 5360 pairs of hose.

—B—

If you don't wish to seize the property of the rich, or put the workingman in his place, you are middle class.

—B—

Americans are fast paying their private debts. By the time the war is over, all they'll owe will be about $2,250 per capita in the national debt.

Propaganda is that branch of the art of lying which merely deceives your friends without deceiving your enemies.—Walter Lippmann.

The price of greatness is responsibility.
—Winston Churchill.

No man is a complete failure until he begins disliking men who succeed.

The trouble with Kentuck, says one Democrat, is that it ran short of bourbon liquor and sobered up long enough to elect a Republican governor.

To see yourself as others really see you, it is important for you to have a sense of humor.

ARE YOU A GOOD SAMARITAN?

Then—"CAST THY BREAD UPON THE WATERS, AND IT SHALL RETURN TO THEE AFTER MANY DAYS."

The finest story in the New Testament is that of the Good Samaritan. Three of the four Gospel writers thought it so important that they included it in their biographies of Christ.

A certain New Dealer of that day sought to entrap Christ by asking him, "What must a man do to be saved?" Christ answered, "Thou shalt love the Lord, thy God, with all thy heart, mind, soul and strength, and thy neighbor as thyself."

Then the left-winger asked another question, "Who is my neighbor?" Christ answered by telling the beautiful story of the stranger who had been beset by thieves, beaten, robbed and left to die. The New Dealers and other Socialists passed him by. Then the Good Samaritan saw him, had pity on him, and, although he was an utter stranger, lifted him up, carried him into a tavern, and left money for his keep, saying, "If this be not enough, I will pay the rest when I return next week."

In Christ's mind, there is nothing finer in human relationship than to help those who have been assaulted, beaten, mistreated and robbed of their time, money, reputation or friends.

For 13 years, The Broom has striven day and night with might and main to be an honest, conscientious, progressive, patriotic publication. It has "hewed to the line, letting the chips fall where they may." It has never knowingly published an unpatriotic or seditious line.

Ye Editor, desiring to increase his usefulness to America, had, in 1942, entered himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination to Congress.

His enemies, desiring surely to eliminate him from the race, had his name included in an untrue, unjust and diabolical Federal mass indictment in far away Washintgon, D. C.

He spent six months in jail awaiting trial, and was finally released on $1000 bond, after it was shown that the indictments were false and without merit in law or fact.

All during the past summer, according to the broadcasts of "Walter, the Russian", great groups of aliens in New York City and CIO unions in San Diego, signed petitions asking for the reindictment of 33 persons whom they had never met, had never seen, and whose writings they had never read.

This emotional mob pressure upon the Department of Justice in Washington, D. C., resulted in the calling of a third grand jury, which was impaneled on October 26. It has been hearing the reports and testimony of the New Deal Gestapo and is expected to return an indictment around the first of the new year.

Despite all the sad motions of our great Republic toward despotic power and destructive bureaucracy, thank God there still remains the freedom of friends to raise money and support the persecuted victims of a bureaucratic despotism!

It is a fundamental of Anglo-Saxon law in all English-speaking countries that a man is PRESUMED TO BE INNOCENT UNTIL HE IS PROVED GUILTY IN A COURT OF LAW. So the courts in both England and America have invariably ruled that friends, relatives, acquaintances—anybody—may come to the assistance of anyone accused of crime.

As the great encyclopedia of law, Corpus Juris, 11th volume, page 249, says, "The rule seems to be well established that a person is not guilty of maintenance who furnishes assistance, in money or otherwise, to a poor man to enable him to carry on his suit" (or defend himself in a court of law). "The law extends its charity to the charitable and compassionate and will not pronounce it maintenance for one to aid his poor friend and thus to assist in protecting him from what he deems an oppression or a wrong."

In a great book, "The Machinery of Justice in England," by R. M. Jackson, Solicitor of the Supreme Court of England, it is related, page 122, that defense funds for poor prisoners are often raised by "collections of sixpences and coppers."

Readers of The Broom are undoubtedly the "salt of the earth"— patriots, believers in and fighters for our Constituion and the Bill of Rights.

You grand and noble people can help de Aryan and The Broom fend off the approaching foul blow against free speech in America, which is expected to fall from the New Deal Socialist Administration's "Justice Department" in Washington early next month.

Can you — will you — clip the coupon below and return it with whatever contributions you are able to make? IT IS NEEDED—AND NEEDED BADLY. You will always be glad you helped!

Good
THOUGHT

Good WORD — Good DEED

Love in Religion, the Christ

While the English language is very rich in proper expressions to designate different ideas, the use commonly made of its words is very poor. One of its most wonderful terms is continually abused, I mean the word, LOVE.

This term, in its religious meaning, denotes God, for God is Love, the Creator of Heaven and Earth. But because all creation takes place through His children, since the Father could not possibly take part in temporal activities and remain Supreme, not only did all the visible universe spring forth from the creative functions of the sons (and daughters) of God, but is being perpetuated and directed by them, therefor all reproduction of LIFE on the planet is delegated to living beings, and whether they be insects, vermin, animals or humans, ALL are His children, equally loved and accounted for and endowed with the power of creation, recreation and reproduction of LIFE of their own kind.

The true redeemers have since time immemorial taught us to love all living beings as our brethren and sisters, for God loves us all equally.

In view of the fact that this LOVE is sublime and all-embracing, it is very disappointing to notice the abuse to which the term love is being subjected in the common usage. I have found myself terribly embarassed time and again when I discovered how my usage of the term was misunderstood and misapplied. There is such a world of difference between lust and love, that intelligent people should not confound the two.

Love is the sentiment, of infinite consideration, forbearance that induces the WILL to serve and BEAR the burdens of the one we love until ultimate success is achieved in the goal chosen. A mother loves when she bears all the burdens of the infant till he, and she, are grown up sufficiently to take care of themselves. A husband loves when he not merely receives enjoyment from his wife's affection and service, but bears all the inconveniences of adjustment, to her peculiarities and shortcomings, works hard to provide for sustenance and protection of herself and children, because inside, in his heart there burns a flame divine that nourishes his endurance to overcome all obstacles.

The power to endure and produce under obstructive pressure the results looked for is rooted in LOVE. The root of friendship is love, not lust. The one endures, the other passes. Mates are friends first, last and all the time. The essence of love is friendship and the Greeks so considered it and friendship is capable of infinite sacrifice for the loved one. These are matters we can figure out for ourselves, but commonly they are not thought out and used so that confusion and abuse arises.

The higher a person evolves the greater the capacity for love, for the wealth which desires to pour itself out into activity to make life more beautiful, wholesome and happy. Such is the nature of genius whether it be the genius of the inventor who lessens physical misery by the invention of dodads that frees the slaves from physical drudgery, or by presenting the world with melodies that reverberate into the soul and raise our spirits to the highest pinnacle of harmony with the Infinite, or by blending intellect with sentiment so that the true religion, reunion of mind and soul, makes us wholesome and human again. Then a love is born which is the Christ in us. And that love never dies. Whomever we once included in our hearts in that love lives on forever and when we meet them again and again there is a recognition, unwittingly, that we know this one, even though we may not recollect whence and how.

Poor, indeed, is the heart that does not love and does not seek to bring happiness by its devotion to the needs of others.

CHATS WITH GLADYS

INFINITE LOVE

"Some of my readers are quite put out with me over you, Gladys, they claim that our conversation is not in keeping with the general tenor of the BROOM; others wonder who you are and why I keep company with you, or you with me, in a fashion that indicates our contempt for conventions."

"Why don't you tell them my identity, Kosti?"

"I figured I'd let you rather do that yourself."

"Isn't the world funny? They are so anxious about a girl that lives in your consciousness only when you are all alone and nobody else cares to keep you company. They should not be jealous of me, that way, or put out. Whenever a living girl attends to her business as you need co-operation, I have always stepped into the background, but when all others fail to answer the cue, naturally, I step in, for the show must go on, don't they realize that?"

"But some people object to my intimacies with girls, described openly in my stories; they prefer to think of me as a cold, stead, puritanic sort of sour puss who is out with a broom to clean up the world."

"Don't they know that wherever a man accomplishes a worthwhile deed there is a woman in the background who inspired him, and stood by?"

"They should know that, but evidently they prefer to ignore the woman. You see, when no woman is mentioned, then women readers, vicariously, enjoy feeling as if they furnished the inspiration telepathically and my giving credit to you or Marion, or someone else, who actually got me started, they get disgusted with me. It's a woman's nature, it seems."

"Kosti, that's an old story, too. So let's come down to what you and I are supposed to discuss now. I see you labeled this story INFINITE LOVE. That's why some call you Lochinvar, isn't it?"

"You are a good sport, and when others are afraid to be known as my companions, you don't mind. That's why I treasure you so. I can always count on you. The simplest things are so self-evident, I am surprised people don't tumble on to it. This is Christmas and they all speak of the Christ child, and they say He is the child of God and they make so much mysterious fuss about the nature of His birth."

"Let me finish this for you, Kosti. The Father being Infinite Love, of course, the child is a replica of the Father, in miniature, a lover who never ceases loving, even those who are foolish enough to try to do Him dirt. And this love is in all of us, because we all are children of the same Father, all we need do is place our faith in our own divine origin of love and we are saved."

"We are saved so much despair and so much brutal application of thoughtlessness. I suppose, Gladys, we have better let our readers work out this thought themselves once we gave them the hint in the proper direction."

"Mery Christmas, Kosti; and I hope everybody loves me who reads the BROOM because I am your dream girl who loves them all, too."

That Influenza Cold

Years ago, when I used to speak over the radio, I told my audiences of an old remedy when that clammy, cold, greenish kind of feeling gets hold of you, called flu.

People used to take a whole grapefruit, rind and all, scrub it clean and wash it, and then cut it up in small cubes with a sharp knife, rind, white skin and pulp. Thrown into a saucepan containing a quart of boiling water, they let it simmer over a very low flame for 20 minutes. Then put it aside to cool and ate and drank the whole bitter mess, in place of taking quinine. If the body is not too filthy inside, one or two such saucepans broke the flu.

When it did not, then garlic and parsley juices, equal parts, were resorted to. It smelled to high heaven so it drove even the flu bugs out. Mixing the juice with mashed, ripe avocado pulp, holds it down better. About half a teaspoonful of raw garlic juice matched by parsley.

Telling you these things may bring a charge of practicing medicine without a license on my head to add to my other troubles. But I am used to it. My friends who understand what new duties go with it will be interested to know that in the early morning hours of Dec. 22, 1943 the office of Ambassador, at large, for Mazdaznan representation in the non-oriental districts, was open for appointment and I accepted to undertake its execution. This means that in addition to representing the sovereign American citizen at the forthcoming trial and persecution in Washington, D. C., I shall also stand there in the full power of Mazdaznan representation. This makes it not only a national but a world event and we will get results undreamt of before. The Lord works in mysterious ways His wonders to perform.

A Lady's Man

Missouri, Dec. 13.

Mr. C. Leon de Aryan,
East San Diego, Calif.

Dear Leon:— ?

Your's of Oct. 2nd came duly to hand. So I fooled you. Well at least not intentionally. I am B, the daughter of Mr. B, — — and not quit elderly but a long ways from the hi-chair & cradle.

Dad and I had a great laugh, we feel closer now & had I known what a lady's man you are, I'd have "hollered" for my BROOMS (which I missed).

You were in the "jug" Dad said, so we'll excuse you, our two (2) moves caused upset too.

The BROOMS are coming through & what Dad does to same, absorbs every syllable, then tells the neighbors, he has quit "lending same", he means to send same on to Earl K. Long for L. S. U., the college his late brother raised to a first class University. I enclose a poem, I could hardly resist adding "Leon", to the title. Well thanks for attention, we'll try to keep up, Dad's income is very meager but we'll manage. Best wishes for all the bounties you merit by your sincere Americanism.

Cordially, BESS — — —

P. S.—Please send us a picture like one which appeared in Nov. 15th. Dad wants to place beside one we have of Monty Wooley whom Dad resembles & do we kid him, it puffs him, Dad is close to 75.

Also if you have a small clipping of Walter Winchell's: "Lipschitz", article of Nov. 1, p. 4.— A party here wants it but I will not cut into these BROOMS and I don't want to take chances of being robbed. — Thanks a lot, well S'long. — B.

* * * *

Dec. 19, 1943. East San Diego.

Dear BESS:—

Came "home" from San Francisco and found your letter. Things are in an awful mess, piled up, work not done, papers, bills, letters, all mixed up everywhere. I am divorced and rent a single room with kitchen privilege for $7 a week, while I need a whole house, well ordered, to serve my convenience to feel at home. But until then I have to camp and call it home and somehow or other get out the BROOM regularly and pay for it. The children are staying with their mother, when the older one is not in Los Angeles at the University.

If you are B, daughter of Mr. B. — — what does his B. stand for? And is your address same as his or do you visit once every 3 months and then answer my letters?

I am going to publish your letter. It's a good human interest story which we gossipers enjoy. As to my picture and the Lipschitz article, will have to dig into the pile and see what I can find. How come Dad had to tell you I was in the "jug", did you not keep tab on it yourself? 'Fes up! The moment you find out I am a lady's man, there your interest flares up, but as for me, as such, none . . . I'll take Dad.

The Leon is very seductive, but my real name is Kosti, from Constantin, and it has also a secret Zend meaning, which gives me power to stand up and take it on the chin and keep going when the world falls down on me. The girls who love the Kosti keep; the Leon-ones, come and go. There is more to being a lady's man than the eye discloses. There is a depth to it that goes way back to God, our Father. That Love that never dies: The clan feeling: We of one family. The girls and boys of our clan, we belong. And being here in a strange and murderous world, when we find one who knows better and dares practice it, there is kinship, like the waif boy finding his stray dog and becoming pals. Now the girls to whom the Kosti appeals, they sense a stability which is not in their Leon attraction. Leon is flashy, heroic. Kosti is retiring, shy, but so persevering that it almost looks as if he enjoys taking the limelight and having a fight. It's the Leon who fights, and Kosti does not enjoy at all having to play that part, but what can he do?

In an orderly world Leon would not be a lady's man at all because he is very domestic and an one-woman-man. Leon is the most faithful being, attached, there is, once he made his choice. But in this disorderly world the poor fellow failed to hold his mate after he met her, and he is helpless and useless, as a stray waif ever since. But the Kosti persevers and is still driving on in the search for the mate (the first one died) and that appears on the outside as if he were a lady's man, but he is not, really. He thinks it's this one or that one, and does not dare miss, investigates and finds it's an illusion, and that is the drama of his life. Of course, he has a sense of humor as well as of drama and because human interest stories always appeal, he works them into his copy for the paper to vary the diet of jail, wars and corruption.

It's a good thing when we become acquainted with ourselves. You'll find that we are very clannish. We want to belong. The child wants to belong to mother and father, to brother, sister, aunt and grandma, etc. This clan hunger goes very deep. It reaches way up to God, our Father, the head of the Clan. We all are looking up to the Patriarch, as our Leader. And the greater Free-Thinker one becomes, the surer one is to discover this. So instead of the usual clans, on earth, the truer we progress we feel a longing to belong to the Clan of our Father, He our Pariarch, and all the members of His Clan, our brothers, sisters, aunts, uncles, cousins, etc. Then we really have arrived and are at home.

This longing for Our Father's Clan, is something you cannt get away from. So you dream of paradise, to come. And then you meet somebody who has the same dream and longing. There is instant recognition.

But a long, long time ago, before this earth yet was a solid planet, and we were still in the non-incarnate spirit-stage of being, when Thought and Inclination prevailed and determined our Life, some members of the original Clan, of whom our Father is the Pariarch, became impatient at the slow procedure of materializing a new universe, out of Spiritual Thought, and decided on speeding up the process by leaving out, by cutting out the "governors" of TIME control. This rebellion, from impatience, gave material greed, the desire to see materialized their dreams of planetary possession, before DUE TIME, the right-of-way over the nobler and wiser impulses of the Divine, the governing Spirit. And so the Clan split up. Those who stuck with Father and His loyal Sons, and the rebels who decided to bring their Light down into the dark recesses of material realms, prematurely. They thought they were smart and had found a short-cut. Thus Lucifer plunged into the nether realms and he did bring Light there, the Light of cold intellect, devoid of the patient loveliness which does not avoid plodding and drudgery. As a result even our planet materialized defects in construction, for all of us are bound together in the same Clan, in the same Universe, even though we have a rift in our ranks, part of Humanity obeying and executing the Commands of our Father, the only Leader who is GOOD, as they issue forth through His oldest Son, in charge of the Sun-Work-Shop-Universe; and part of Humanity claiming to be smarter than God and "out-voting" His commands by using the "democratic" process of mass-voting instead of intelligent research to find out what is best and GOOD.

Now us waifs, who are born here and have the longing for God's Clan in our hearts, we never have peace and we keep on searching to satisfy that inner hunger for Paradise, the Millenium, the Love that makes us one family Clan. But the other outfit, the Adversary, uses all the smart tricks in the book to confuse us and follow the "short-cut" of violent means that precipitated them in the first instance out of the slow, but steady progress of divine Involution and now Evolution. And this is War!

The greed for premature material possession prevails now, as then.

Thus Kosti-Leon goes asearching for his mate and naturally when one come along who is a perfect vegetarian and has abjured violence in her personal life, he just adores her. She is of his clan, so he imagined. But to his great heartache he discovers she is very smart. So smart that she embraced the non-violent method of living, but in her heart she still puts smartness above adherence to Truth and Intelligence, for there is a great cleft between Intelligence and Intellect. Intellect is limited, Intelligence considers ALL factors and looks for no short-cut that leaves out the governing factors of restraint.

And thus the clannish line of demarkation of Humanity, here on earth, is very sharply defined. The smart boys; and those who prefer adherence to the original Covenant with our Father. The smart boys promise and promise and promise some more. But their promises are just so much eye-wash. Their leader, elected leader in the U. S. A. is Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

So when I discovered that the "wonderful girl" still prefers adherence to the smart and indispensable boy who knows all the answers and promises everything, to everybody, everywhere in the world and when she even demanded that I give up the Principle of loyalty to Truth in exchange for loyalty to FDR and herself, naturally, seeing that she considered making adherents for FDR her "life's mission", I sounded the alarm. She looks so very much, in some of the things she does, as if she were genuine, of "our Father's" family, that she had a jolt coming and she got it. She never reads papers, so she claims, but my business is to bring out the facts of public interest.

Thus you read the story, too. And Life goes on until we will have redeemed everyone of the smart boys and girls after they played all the havoc possible and that will be a long time to come. But there is nothing to stop those of "our kind" from joining hands and forces to produce an oasis of paradise in our individual homes, which are our castles, right in the midst of this living hell.

Sincerely, KOSTI.

Attorney General Opposes Writ for Habeas Corpus of Ferenz

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA

In the Matter of the Application of
C. LEON de ARYAN
For the Issuance of a Writ of Habeas Corpus.
Crim. No. 4524

MEMORANDUM OF AUTHORITIES

THE SUBVERSIVE ORGANIZATION REGISTRATION ACT (DEERING'S GENERAL LAWS 1941, ACT 8426, Page 2302) IS NOT UNCONSTITUTIONAL AS BEING REPUGNANT TO THE UNITED STATES CONSTITUTION.

(a) The enactment of this act is within the police powers of the state.

It appears this Act was patterned after a cimilar Act of Congress of October 17, 1940 (U.S. Statutes at Large, Volume 54, page 1201, 76th Congress). The fact that Congress may have enacted legislation on the subjcet does not preclude the state from enacting similar legislation under its police powers, since it involves the safey and welfare of the state.

Gilbert v. Minnesota, 254 U. S. 325, 331.
To the same effect see.
Crossley v. California, 108 U. S. 640;
People v. McDonnell, 80 Cal. 285.

(b) Exemption from compulsory self-incrimination in state courts is not secured by the Federal Constitution.

The immunity from compulsory self-incrimination contained in the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States is restricted to Federal Actions, it does not apply to or protect the citizens of states in state actions, nor may this protection be claimed under the "due process clause" of the Fourteenth Amendment.

Twining v. New Jersey, 211 U. S. 78;
Barron v. Baltimore, 32 U. S. 242;
Betts v. Brady, 315 U. S. 455.
See, also: Authorities cited in 19 Rose's Notes on U. S. Reports, page 1328; 16 Corpus Juris Secundum. Page 907 sec. 458, Note 32.

II

NOR IS THE ACT VIOLATIVE OF SECTION 13 OF ARTICLE I OF THE STATE CONSTITUTION.

(a) An act requiring the filing with a state agency of the constitution, oaths of membership and lists of membership, etc. of a corporation, association or political group is a resonable exercise of the police powers of the state.

Bryan v. Zimmerman, 278 U. S. 62.

The Act in question is not discriminatory as in violation of the equal protection of the laws, nor constitutes an unreasonable or arbitrary classification.

Skinner v. Oklahoma, 316 U. S. 535, 540.

(b) The guaranty contained in section 13 of Article I of the State Constitution, providing no person shall be compelled to be a witness against himself, has no application to corporations, associations or political groups.

The guarantee in said section and article of the State Constitution is limited to individuals; it does not apply to corporations, associations or political groups, nor does the fact the filing of the information required by the Act may disclose the guilt of any of its members alter the rule.

Essgee Co. v. United States, 362 U. S. 151, 155, 158;
Wilson v. United States, 221 U. S. 361;
United States v. Alabama etc. Inc., 46 Fed. Supp. 450;
Walling v. Colebrienski, Inc., 47 Fed Supp. 448;
Hale v. Henkel, 201 U. S. 43.

The Act in question is directed against corporations, associations and political groups. Hence section 13 of Article 1 of the State Constitution has no application.

(c) Section 13 of Article I of the State Constitution has application alone to the testimony of witnesses against themselves.

It has been held that the compulsory taking of fingerprints to determine whether the accused has been guilty of prior offenses does not violate the constitutional provision that no person shall be compelled, in a criminal case, to be a witness against himself.

People v. Sallow, 165, N. Y. C. 915.
See: People v. Jones, 112 Cal. App. 68.

We believe the filing of documents such as required by the Act under consideration is in principle similar to that of taking fingerprints under the circumstances described in the Sallow case.

Respectfully submitted,

ROBERT W. KENNY
Attorney General of California.
DAVID K. LENER
Deputy Attorney General.

de Aryan's Reply to Attorney General

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA

C. LEON de ARYAN, Petitioner
v.
CLINTON T. DUFFY, Respondent
Crim. No. 4524. Petition for a Writ of Habeas Corpus of FRANZ K. FERENZ.

REPLY BRIEF to ATTORNEY GENERAL'S MEMORANDUM of AUTHORITIES

Comes now C. LEON de ARYAN, Petitioner, in his own person, and after having received permission from the Chief Jusice to submit a brief in reply to the authorities presented by the Attorney General against granting of the Writ, submits the following for the court's consideration:

The Subversive Organizations Registration Act 8426, of California (Deering's General Laws, 1941, page 2302) IS UNCONSTITUTIONAL and REPUGNANT to the U. S. Constitution AND the Constitution of California.

We do not deny the authority of the legislature to pass acts similar to acts of Congress, under its police power. But WE DENY the authority of the legislature to enact ENTRAPMENT legislation in any disguise, in violation of the 5th Amendment to the U. S. Constitution AND the Constitution of California, Article 1, Section 3.

The argument that "the immunity contained in the 5th Amendment of the constitution is restricted to Federal actions, it does not apply or protect the citizens of states in state actions . . . . ", is contradicted by the California adoption of the same guarantees contained in the U. S. Constitution as "the supreme law of the land".

The Attorney General's argument might have legal semblance in some other states but not in California under Art. I, Sec. 3, of the California constitution. Admission of unconstitutionality in the Federal field is confirmation of unconstitutionality in California, as being repugnant to both the State and Federal Constitutions.

In the Constitution of the U. S. A. (Annotated), cases decided up to Jan. 1, 1938, page 629:

"It is impossible that the meaning of the constitutional provision can only be, that a person shall not be compelled to be a witness against himself in a prosecution against himself."

Counselman v. Hitchcock, 142 U. S. 547, 562 (1892), holding that a witness before a grand jury . . . . was entitled under this amendment to refuse to answer questions, if the answers might lead to the discovery of evidence against him; and that R. S. 860, was not adequate protection under this constitution guaranty which affords a witness absolute immunity against future prosecution for the offense to which the particular question related.

Substitute for "grand jury" the words "secretary of state at Sacramento" and FERENZ was entitled to refuse to answer questions in writing, even if he was proposing to overthrow the government, which he emphatically denies.

On page 632, supra.

"In a case where the constitutional immunity against self-incrimination applies, it may be assumed that such guaranty would be violated as well by inferences drawn from silence with respect to incriminating matters as by testimony which the witness is compelled to give."

U. S. ex rel. Vajtuaer v. Commissioner of Immigration, 273 U. S. 103 (1927).

A defendant who remains "silent" when the legislature demands that he incriminate himself by registering as a director of a subversive (felonious) organization, is protected by the constitutional immunity of the Fifth amendment to the U. S. Constitution. Judicial notice may be taken that the U. S. Supreme Court has made application of the Bill of Rights to cover state cases as well, even though the Federal constitution merely applies to acts of congress, literarily interpreted. Still the very principle of American and Anglo-Saxon jurisprudence is the same when applied to what the Declaration of Independence terms "unalienable rights", regardless of state lines.

II

Even if Act 8426 were constitutional under the police powers of the state, it is constitutional only as long as Section 10, Title 18, U. S. Code; Section 5, Title 18. Code; Act 8428 of California (Deering's General Laws) are inoperative; otherwise Act 8426 is Entrapment legislation in violation of the principle of self-incrimination forbidden in criminal cases by the Anglo-Saxon sense of fairness in due process of law, as well as in violation of the Fifth amendment to the the U. S. constitution. Furthermore, Act 8426 was passed AFTER the other three acts above mentioned were in force, it cannot therefor be other but ENTRAPMENT legislation to punish people arbitrarily where hysteria takes the place of legal evidence before an excited jury.

The court may well take judicial notice that shortly after our entry into the war a German submarine landed enemy saboteurs on the Atlantic coast bent on violence to interfere with our war effort. Had the government proceeded against them on the theory that they should have REGISTERED THEIR INTENTION, under U. S. Statutes at Large, Volume 54, page 1291, 76th Congress, (as the Attorney General proceeded against FERENZ) we hold that the Fifth Amendment would have applied. But the government having SUFFICIENT evidence to convict them of ACTUAL INTENT did not resort to the subterfuge of lack of registration of intent, brought the sabotuers to trial and convicted and executed them in record time.

Legislation to REGISTER INTENT, or membership in an organization that INTENDS, or even COMMITS criminal acts, is Entrapment legislation, pure and simple. Under this doctrine a state could under its police powers pass legislation compelling a burglar to register his intent with the police to burglarize and prosecute him for failure to so register in place of the actual crime committed.

We hold that the proper charge in the case before the court for consideration, should have been a charge against FERENZ for violation of the California Syndicalism Act, which covers intent as well as actions against any political change by force. Enactment and prosecution under ENTRAPMENT legislation is repugnant not only to the Constitution of the state and the nation, but to the very core of American and Anglo-Saxon principle of jurisprudence.

C. LEON de ARYAN,
in his own person.

Willkie's 1940 Nomination

WASHINGTON— The House heard a demand that a Senate committee investigate the 1940 presidential nomination of Wendell L. Willkie, on the grounds that it "makes the Teapot Dome scandal look like a Sunday school affair."

Representative Rankin (Democrat) Mississippi, displayed a book entitled "One Man—Wendell Willkie", which the Congressman said had been written by an Ohio Republican leader, ex-Mayor C. Nelson Sparks of Akron, and "reveals the greatest saturnalia of fraud and bribery, and corruption in the history of American politics."

"It is an expose," Rankin said, "of the criminal rigging of the Republican convention at Philadelphia in 1940. Honest Americans at home, as well as soldiers in the field will be shocked.

"If these revelations are permitted to go unnoticed by the Congress of the United States, it will be notice to the world that political morality in America has degenerated to the vanishing point."

"ROOMFUL OF MONEY"

Rankin quoted charges in the book that Willkie forces "bought" delegates with a "roomful of money" at the 1940 convention in Philadelphia and that the author had received an offer of money if he would lead the Arizona Republican delegates into the Willkie camp.

The author, Sparks, described as a long-time friend of Willkie, charged further, Rankin said, that Willkie had pledged to lead the United States into the war to aid Britain, at a private dinner party, but in later public speeches had criticized the "interventionist" attitude of Presdent Roosevelt and the Democratic Administration.

It was after this dinner party, attended by the late British Ambassador to the United States, Lord Lothian, and Mrs. Ogdon Reid, publisher of the New York Herald Tribune, that the New York newspaper announced its unequivocal support of Willkie for President of the Republican ticket, Sparks said in his book.

Rankin told the House of allegations made in Sparks book, that Harry Hopkins, White House confidant, was supporting Willkie for the Republican nomination in the 1944 campaign. Sparks quoted a letter written by Hopkins to a potential Texas senatorial candidate in which Hopkins asserted he could promise Willkie's cooperation.

de ARYAN'S ATTORNEY DIES

WASHINGTON— Simon R. Golibart, local attorney, had a heart attack while riding on a street car here, with fatal results. Mr. Golibart was defense attorney, appointed by the court, for C. Leon de Aryan, San Diego publisher, who was charged in 2 indictments by D. C. Grand Juries, with conspiracy with the Nazi government to demoralize the armed forces in this city.

Just Suppose

By Lewis A. Walmsley

Suppose, and these are no far-fetched possibilities—

Suppose the masses of India rebel against their British masters . . .

Shall America, child of revolutionary democracy, spill the blood of her men to keep India under the British yoke?

Suppose China goes to war against Great Britain over Hong Kong, as Lin Yutang threatens in his newest book. . . . .

Will Americans in the world police force be compelled to fight the Chinese for preservation of Hong Kong as a British colony.

Suppose the natives of the Indies decide to to throw the Dutch out and work their mines, oil fields, and plantations for their own benefit and profit . . .

Will Americans participate in a police force to crush the rebels and keep them subjects of the Queen of Holland?

Suppose Poland objects forcibly to any settlement which gives Russia part of her pre-war territory . . .

Will Americans consent to stand guard over a new partition of Poland?

Suppose the people of Greece and Yugoslavia revolt against Mr. Churchill's scheme to restore the old dynasties . . .

Will Americans be asked to shed their blood to preserve unpopular and reactionary monarchies?

"We must work affirmatively for world cooperation IF there can be world agreement on peace terms consistent with our principles of political and economic democracy."

Massachusetts and FDR

This is the way we would size up Massachusetts. Underneath there is a great surge of resentment against Roosevelt and the war—and that goes for Harvard University as well as the powerful Irish-Catholic vote.

The resentment is not against the war—Massachusetts is not anti-war and wants to fight it out to the end—but the resentment is intellectual, a feeling.

"Did Roosevelt think he was kidding us when he kept saying before Pearl Harbor that he was trying to keep us out of war? Where does he get the idea that he had to baby us along and that we couldn't be trusted with knowing what it was all about?"

That's the source of the anti-Roosevelt feeling here.

That, plus the fact that the women here don't like Mrs. Roosevelt. And plus the fact that the Catholics, politically powerful, are split.

The great, aged, tremendously powerful William Cardinal O'Connell is a potent factor. And the Cardinal of Boston has no truck with the New Dealism as pictured by the private lives of the great of Washington. New York's Archbishop Spellman is a boy from Massachusetts, down Whitman Way.

The tough Yankee Catholics up here have lined up behind the old Cardinal and his distrust of the New Deal—look with a suspicious eye on the local boy who has found favor at the White House.—John O'Donnell in the N. Y. News.
